Dr. TOLENTINO G. AQUINO
Regional Director
Department of Education Region 1

Sir:

Greetings of peace and safety!

In name of going global in terms of research findings and outputs' dissemination, ISPSC through its research office will be conducting and hosting the second "Saritaan (Discourse): An International Multidisciplinary Research Conference" on September 26-27, 2024; however, changes in the schedule may be done due to the availability of plenary speakers and other pertinent matters. As such, I am inviting all interested researchers from the Department of Education (DepEd) Region 1 to submit and attend the said virtual conference.

In connection with this, I am humbly asking for your endorsement, through your office, of this conference to DepEd Region 1 family. Kindly see the attached documents for more information.

Notably, the conference aims to bring together prominent academic scientists, researchers, and research scholars from the different international and local schools to exchange and share their experiences and scholarly research results.

Finally, I look forward with utmost gratitude to your favorable response to this letter.

Respectfully yours,

RANEC A. AZARIAS
Director for Research

Concept Paper

Saritaan (Discourse): An International Multidisciplinary Research Conference

Theme: "Innovating for Sustainable Future through Research and Collaboration"

Tentative Schedule: September 26-27, 2024

ISPSC's Path to Relevant Research Programs and Activities (Arce, 2022)

Research defines an education institution, particularly a Higher Education Institution (HEI). It is a fine tradition of research that elevates an HEI and gives it a superior distinction. It has to be so, because it is the discovery of knowledge – and the production of knowledge – that makes HEIs relevant not only in the communities where they are situated, but also in the global academic community.

Standards in measuring performances of HEIs put premium on the research capability of the institution as a producer of knowledge. In the case of ISPSC as a future University, its capability to develop technologies and produce knowledge that would redound to the benefit of its stakeholders is paramount. Along this vein the ISPSC is geared towards taking the road which is not necessarily less-traveled, but is illuminated by a decisive and sincere pursuit of excellence. Pivoting from the routine in institutions with similar mandate, ISPSC pursues a journey and follows the path of a mythical and legendary man whose life is celebrated in the locale of ISPSC. In pursuit of its relevance as a producer of knowledge, ISPSC follows the TUGOT NI ANGALO (Traversing the Unexplored Grounds Observing Transformation and introducing New Innovations along Agriculture Natural Resources, Forestry, and Sustainable Development, Governmental Administration, Education, and Educational Management, Aquamarine Resources, Livelihood, Industry, Business, and Economics and Other mandated Disciplines).

Guided by this TUGOT NI ANGALO, ISPSC does not limit itself to what its fortitude and bounds could offer. In doing so, scholarly insights and inputs are gathered through partnership with local, national, and international institutions. Similar scholarly insights and inputs are afforded also through participation and attendance to local, national, and international seminars, trainings, workshops, and conferences. In such context, the second "Saritaan (Discourse): An International Multidisciplinary Research Conference" was conceptualized. Saritaan is an Ilokano word which means discourse. As such, the conference shall bring
